To whom it may concern,
I am a EU citizen and am appalled at the settlement that MS has brokered. This is a worldwide issue. I have been forced to use MS software against my will. I want options, i have paid good money to microsoft, which i would not have paid if there had been options. MS has destroyed all options.

To counter this the new measures put forward by the nine states who rejected the settlement seem like they would address some of my concerns about MS's bad practices.

Yours.
